MISSISSIPPI POSTAL EMPLOYEES FEDERAL CREDIT UNION RESPONSE TO THE HEARTBLEED INTERNET BUG

Mississippi Postal is aware of the "Heartbleed" Internet bug affecting many servers. The security vulnerability called "Heartbleed" only affects websites that use an OpenSSL, or open source encryption technology. We are working with our critical business partners to ensure that their systems are secure. Mississippi Postal's partners continually evaluate their systems and potential vulnerabilities.

We have been notified by our partners that they have not seen any issues. You can be assured that your accounts remain safe and secure. Partners that use the Open SSL platform have upgraded their systems and have assured us they are monitoring the situation. Mississippi Postal's website is not vulnerable to the Heartbleed bug and continues to provide secure online services to our membership. While there's no indication of a compromise, we recommend that you periodically change your online passwords and use a unique password for all of your sites.

Protecting our members' personal and financial information is our number one priority. Know that we are doing everything possible to make sure that your information is safe.
